When we use our eyes ,face and hands to communicate with others we are using body language. When we talk with each other body language can help us talk more easily. Police officers use body language to find out what happened in a crime. Or English teachers can use body language to help students learn English better. 5	متن زیر را بخوانید و به سوالات داده شده پاسخ دهید. Culture is a system of shared beliefs that are common in a society. Often, we think of the food, music, clothing, and holidays that are common in a society as its culture, but these are only some of the elements. Other elements include customs, values, behaviors, and artifacts. Culture is, therefore, a combination of thoughts, feelings, attitudes, and beliefs. With more than 190 countries and 7 billion people on earth, it is not hard to imagine that many cultures exist. No matter where you go around the world, you will face people, lifestyles and cultures that are different to what you have. People around the world have very different lives and ways of living. They have different beliefs and customs. So, they usually live and behave according to what they believe to be right and wrong. Learning to respect other cultures is important for having new experiences. One of the first steps to learn about other cultures is to simply accept that there are many different cultures exist other than our own culture. One of the most important ways to learn to become respectful of other cultures is to spend some time reflecting on our own. Then it is important to understand something about other cultures. For those who want to learn about other cultures, but do not know where to start, a great place to start is reading about the cultures that interest them. In today's world if we all are able to know about other cultures, and respect them, life would be easier for most of us. True or False 48. Culture is only a combination of food, clothing and holidays. True ☐ False ☐ 49. Different people of the world may have different cultures and lifestyles. True ☐ False ☐ 50. What is the main idea of the third paragraph? a. Many different cultures exist other than our own culture. b. Learning to respect other cultures is important for having new experiences. c. Culture is a system of shared beliefs that are common in a society. d. People around the world have very different lives and ways of living. 51. The antonym of the word important in the third paragraph is 52. The first step for people to learn about other cultures is 53. How many countries are there in the world? 54. How can we have easier life in today's world?	۱۵

5	متن زیر را بخوانید و به سوالات داده شده پاسخ دهید. Culture is a system of shared beliefs that are common in a society. Often, we think of the food, music, clothing, and holidays that are common in a society as its culture, but these are only some of the elements. Other elements include customs, values, behaviors, and artifacts. Culture is, therefore, a combination of thoughts, feelings, attitudes, and beliefs. With more than 190 countries and 7 billion people on earth, it is not hard to imagine that many cultures exist. No matter where you go around the world, you will face people, lifestyles and cultures that are different to what you have. People around the world have very different lives and ways of living. They have different beliefs and customs. So, they usually live and behave according to what they believe to be right and wrong. Learning to respect other cultures is important for having new experiences. One of the first steps to learn about other cultures is to simply accept that there are many different cultures exist other than our own culture. One of the most important ways to learn to become respectful of other cultures is to spend some time reflecting on our own. Then it is important to understand something about other cultures. For those who want to learn about other cultures, but do not know where to start, a great place to start is reading about the cultures that interest them. In today's world if we all are able to know about other cultures, and respect them, life would be easier for most of us. True or False 48. Culture is only a combination of food, clothing and holidays. True ☐ False ☐ 49. Different people of the world may have different cultures and lifestyles. True ☐ False ☐ 50. L) Reading Comprehension (2)

Art experts have to be very cautious when buying paintings because deception is quite common in the art world. Overpainting is just one of the many problems facing art museum directors who are responsible for buying and evaluating works of art, who also have to be on guard for the false use of famous artist's names , false copies, or even fragments of paintings sold as whole works of art. Overpainting , the most common problem , results from the fact that quite often older works of art have been extensively changed. When a painting is carefully restored or repaired according to the artists' original design, it is called "in painting" , but when the repairs change the work to make it more marketable or appear to be more valuable, it is "overpainting". Modern science , however, now aids the buyers of works of art . Ultra-violet light and X-ray machines can detect these alterations. Another form of deception but one that is less frequent_ is putting the name of a famous artist on an inferior painting , a practice which occurred quite frequently in 1920s and 1930s when the level of art scholarship was not very high in United States and American buyers were easily fooled by European art dealers. In addition to these forms of deception copies of famous paintings are somethings sold as original works of art because some of the old masters painted a popular scene several times if it sold well or their students would copy their better works to practice style and technique. Furthermore, there are dealers who have been known to halves or quarter a painting because it is much more profitable for them to sell four small paintings than one large one.

33. What is the main idea of this passage?

- a-Ultra-violet light and X-ray machines can detect the alterations made in painting.
- b-Deception in the art world and its different ways
- c-Directors being responsible for buying works of art.
- d- Overpainting is quite common in the art world .

34. What is the meaning of “ in painting” ?

- a-To paint something new in old paintings
- b-to change a painting to be more profitable
- c-to repair a painting according to the artists’ original design
- d- to paint a painting on a wall

35. In the 1920s and 1930s Americans were easily fooled by European art dealers because...

- a-they lacked enough art knowledge
- b-the level of dealers’ job was high in the US
- c-they did not care about the paintings being genuine
- d-they were foolish

36. The Underlined pronoun” It” in the last paragraph refers to the painting of...

- a-a copy
- b- a style
- c- a popular scene
- d- a technique

L) Reading Comprehension (2)

Art experts have to be very cautious when buying paintings because deception is quite common in the art world. Overpainting is just one of the many problems facing art museum directors who are responsible for buying and evaluating works of art, who also have to be on guard for the false use of famous artist's names , false copies, or even fragments of paintings sold as whole works of art. Overpainting , the most common problem , results from the fact that quite often older works of art have been extensively changed. When a painting is carefully restored or repaired according to the artists' original design, it is called "in painting" , but when the repairs change the work to make it more marketable or appear to be more valuable, it is "overpainting". Modern science , however, now aids the buyers of works of art . Ultra-violet light and X-ray machines can detect these alterations. Another form of deception but one that is less frequent_ is putting the name of a famous artist on an inferior painting , a practice which occurred quite frequently in 1920s and 1930s when the level of art scholarship was not very high in United States and American buyers were easily fooled by European art dealers. In addition to these forms of deception copies of famous paintings are sometimes sold as original works of art because some of the old masters painted a popular scene several times if it sold well or their students would copy their better works to practice style and technique.

Furthermore, there are dealers who have been known to halves or quarter a painting because it is much more profitable for them to sell four small paintings than one large one.

1-What is the main idea of this passage?

a-Ultra-violet light and X-ray machines can detect the alterations made in painting.

b-Deception in the art world and its different ways✓

c-Directors being responsible for buying works of art.

d- Overpainting is quite common in the art world .

2-What is the meaning of “ in painting” ?

a-To paint something new in old paintings

b-to change a painting to be more profitable

c-to repair a painting according to the artists’ original design ✓

d- to paint a painting on a wall

3-In the 1920s and 1930s Americans were easily fooled by European art dealers because...

a-they lacked enough art knowledge ✓

b-the level of dealers’ job was high in the US

c-they did not care about the paintings being genuine

d-they were foolish

4-The Underlined pronoun” It” in the last paragraph refers to the painting of...

a-a copy

b- a style

c- a popular scene ✓

d- a technique
